

Boisdale

BRITISH BAWD

Whisky a go-go... With a Victorian drawing room-cum-country pile vibe, Boisdale's whisky dedication is marked by a two hundred-strong list complete with tasting notes (be warned that their cocktails come served stiff). It's the kind of place where you can still find ageing MPs and eccentrics on any given night and they also offer a live jazz programme. Celebrating? Opt for the Bowmore 1957, a full-bodied single malt loaded with a kaleidoscope of notes dating back to the casket's Kentucky origins. A snip at £256 per shot.
