

8 BBQ restaurants in Canary Wharf and east London to eat your fill of meat at

When only barbecue will do to satisfy those carnivore cravings, head to Big Easy, Boisdale, Barbecoa, Bodean's, Texas Joe's Slow Smoked Meats, Red's True BBQ, Porky's or Cottons

2. Boisdale Of Canary Wharf

Cabot Square, Canary Wharf

Jerk on: Boisdale will be barbecuing all day, come July 3

This one's for the planners – the kind of folk who like to kick back with the smooth sounds of Bob Marley, pour a generous shot of rum and relax in thoroughly organised fashion.

News has reached us that, come Monday, July 3, things will be lively up on the terrace at Boisdale Of Canary Wharf, kicked off with a party attended by the Jamaican High Commissioner.

The spirit and sound-soaked restaurant and bar has done a deal with the Jamaica Tourist Board to deliver a distinctly Caribbean flavour to its outdoor 130m space.

Drinks sponsors Appleton Estate Rum and Red Stripe will lubricate Canary Wharf's workers sufficiently to wind and grind to the live music.

For those concerned more with their stomachs, there will be an all-day jerk BBQ as well as cocktails to wash it all down with. The terrace will run until August 31 with bookings via 020 7715 5818.
